Beatin' the heat

When the weather gets hot, residents need to find ways to cool off, and for many, that means blowing up their tubes and getting into the McLeod River. As one of the area's favourite pastimes in the summer, tubing along the river is a great way to beat the heat, and there are several popular spots where people like to hop off, pull their inflatables onto shore and have a little swim. The river is consistently busy in sweltering weather, including a recent outing for this smiley group.
